

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

1 Present perfect with still, yet, already

Translate the sentences into your language.

- 1 I've already brushed my teeth.

- 2 Have you read that book yet?

- 3 Alex hasn't done all his homework yet.

- 4 The children still haven't tidied their rooms.

- 5 Eva's already taken the photo.

- 6 We still haven't sent the email.

- 7 Have you packed for the trip yet?

2 for and since

Translate the sentences into your language.

- 1 They have been in Paris for ten hours.

- 2 They haven't been to school since yesterday.

- 3 Have your brother and his wife been married since 2011?

- 4 She hasn't played tennis for a week.

- 5 I haven't eaten anything for twelve hours!

3 Present perfect and past simple

Translate the sentences into your language.

- 1 I haven't swum in the new pool yet but I went to see it.

- 2 I have been so busy that I forgot your birthday.

- 3 I spoke to Sophie last week but I still haven't visited her.

- 4 I have already seen this film. I saw it last month.

4 Asking for information about an activity

Translate the questions into your language.

- 1 Can I ask you a few things about the trip?

- 2 What do I need to bring?

- 3 Is it only for people who've already done it?

- 4 What about food?

- 5 How long is the trip?

- 6 Where can I sign up?

5 Review

Translate the text into your language.

A couple of months ago, I saw an advert for a volunteer group, it sounded interesting so I phoned to ask for more information. Each volunteer helps someone who hasn't learnt how to read yet or just needs help. Some volunteers visit the elderly who cannot see very well anymore, some visit schools and sit with teenagers who don't have the opportunity to read at home and some go to the library once a week and read to a group of very young children. I thought it sounded like a good idea ... and it is! I have already been four times! So far, I have met lots of different people: Jack is 78 years old, Jake is 14 and Jesse is six. I stay for about an hour with each person and it is great.
