3 35 Listen and write the text.

Last summer we went camping in the mountains. It hadn't rained for weeks and the weather was good when we started our hike to the campsite. While we were walking, the sky got darker and then it started raining. We didn't stop but when we reached the campsite, we saw that our backpacks had let water in. We put up our tent and got inside, but our sleeping bags were wet and we were cold. There was even water in our torch so it wasn't working. When we were almost asleep, somebody came and told us to move quickly. They said a landslide was coming down the mountain!

4 36 Listen and write the question.

Were they able to read books in the tent before they went to sleep?

- 5 She has to take the dog for a walk every evening.
- 6 They're not allowed to wear jewellery at that school.

3 39 Listen and write the text.

I thought my friend Jim was lucky because he doesn't have to go to school. His parents teach him at home. You're only allowed to do that if you get permission, and your parents must be educated. I think it is incredible – he never has to do homework! I thought he was allowed to do what he wants all day, but he says it's awful. He doesn't do sport and he doesn't make friends. He has to help around the house and then start lessons. He never has any time for himself and in the evening he's exhausted! I told him he should tell his parents he wants to go to school!

4 40 Listen and write the question.

Can anybody teach their children at home if they want to?
