

Final Test Standard. Listening. Exercise 9.

Listen to five people talking. Circle the correct answers.

- 1 Mum always sends me out to get her favourite magazine on a Saturday. I don't know why she doesn't just read it online but she enjoys reading it with a cup of tea when there's no one in the house. So here I am ... but where is the magazine? There are so many magazines here. I'm going to ask the assistant to help me.
- 2 I started my job about two weeks ago, so everything is quite new. I'm a bit nervous so it's good that my colleagues are very helpful and friendly. My law degree hasn't really prepared me for the reality of being in a courtroom. Of course I don't normally work directly with any criminals but I need to make notes and organise everything for the barristers.
- 3 I know it's ridiculous but I'm addicted to I'm a Celebrity Get Me Out of Here! I always used to laugh at my friends when they watched programmes like that but now I've found myself watching them too. I can't understand why someone famous wants to be on television doing really stupid things but I love watching it! Shhhh, don't tell anyone!!
- 4 Like most teenagers, I can't imagine life without it. I mean, it's how I know what's happening in the world. I use it for everything. It's my life and I take it with me everywhere! I text and call my friends, obviously, but I also listen to music, and watch films and video clips on it. I just hope that I never lose it.
- 5 I was in hospital for a week after it happened. It was so stupid. I just wasn't looking where I was going and I tripped over in the street. When I fell, I heard a crack and that was that! That was three weeks ago ... I still can't walk but I'm hoping that the plaster will come off tomorrow. You hear about people having accidents when they're skiing and stuff like that, but just falling in the street ... ridiculous!

Final Test Extra. Listening. Exercise 9.

Listen to five people talking. Complete the sentences.

- 1 Mum always sends me out to get her favourite magazine on a Saturday. I don't know why she doesn't just read it online but she enjoys reading it with a cup of tea when there's no one in the house. So here I am ... but where is the magazine? There are so many magazines here. I'm going to ask the assistant to help me.
- 2 I started my job about two weeks ago, so everything is quite new. I'm a bit nervous so it's good that my colleagues are very helpful and friendly. My law degree hasn't really prepared me for the reality of being in a courtroom. Of course I don't normally work directly with any criminals but I need to make notes and organise everything for the barristers.
- 3 I know it's ridiculous but I'm addicted to I'm a Celebrity Get Me Out of Here! I always used to laugh at my friends when they watched programmes like that but now I've found myself watching them too. I can't understand why someone famous wants to be on television doing really stupid things but I love watching it! Shhhh, don't tell anyone!!
- 4 Like most teenagers, I can't imagine life without it. I mean, it's how I know what's happening in the world. I use it for everything. It's my life and I take it with me everywhere! I text and call my friends, obviously, but I also listen to music, and watch films and video clips on it. I just hope that I never lose it.
- 5 I was in hospital for a week after it happened. It was so stupid. I just wasn't looking where I was going and I tripped over in the street. When I fell, I heard a crack and that was that! That was three weeks ago ... I still can't walk but I'm hoping that the plaster will come off tomorrow. You hear about people having accidents when they're skiing and stuff like that, but just falling in the street ... ridiculous!